Locating or Relocating a Business – Step by Step

To relocate a business to South Carolina, following the steps outlined. If you are relocating a business, i.e., you want to incorporate your business under the laws of South Carolina, refer to Starting a Business.

Step 1 -- Registering your business

If your business is not a sole proprietorship or partnership and have physical presence in South Carolina, you will need to register the business with the Secretary of State. The various entity types are as follows:

- Corporations
- Professional Corporations
- Statutory Close Corporations
- Non-Profit Corporations
- Limited Liability Companies
- Limited Liability Partnerships
- Limited Partnerships

Presence usually means that there is a physical business location or warehousing of goods in South Carolina.

If you are locating a business in South Carolina you will register as a foreign business, i.e., as a business that is already incorporated under the laws of another state or country. Registering the business with the Secretary of State will enable the business to use the South Carolina court system. The courts may be needed to enforce contracts, collect debts, etc. If you are relocating the business to South Carolina, refer to Starting a Business.

If your business is not one of the entity types listed above and you’re not a sole proprietorship or partnership, you may need to file under a Fictitious Name.

To register your business go to https://businessfilings.sc.gov/businessfiling

As a result of registering the business with the Secretary of State, you will receive Articles and a Certificate that can be used as evidence that the business is registered in South Carolina.

Sole proprietorships and partnerships do not register with the Secretary of State.

Step 2 – If you have employees:

Withholding tax

If the employee is working in South Carolina, regardless of where he/she is a resident, the income earned in South Carolina is taxed by South Carolina. If a South Carolina resident is earning wages in a state that does not have a state income tax, the withholding should be for South Carolina. To establish a withholding account with the Dept. of Revenue, go to https://dor.sc.gov/
Unemployment tax – For Profit
South Carolina for-profit businesses are required to establish an unemployment tax account with the Department of Employment and Workforce (DEW). To register for an unemployment account go to SUITS

New Hires

The South Carolina Illegal Immigration and Reform Act requires all employers to verify the legal status of new employees and prohibits the employment of any worker who is not legally in this country and authorized to work. SCLLR is in charge of enforcing this law - for more information, visit SCLLR. Here is the link for this form: E-Verify Form

In addition to completing and maintaining the federal employment eligibility verification form, more commonly known as the Form I-9, all South Carolina employers must within three business days after employing a new employee:

- Verify the employee’s work authorization through the E-Verify federal work authorization program administered by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. Employers may no longer confirm a new employee’s employment authorization with a driver’s license or state identification card.

Go to uscis.gov/e-verify  Phone (888) 464-4218  Email: E-Verify@dhs.gov

All employers must report all newly hired and rehired employees to the Child Support Services Division (CSSD) of the South Carolina Department of Social Services. This information will be used to ensure that non-custodial parents live up to their financial responsibilities to their children. By working together, the CSSD and employers can reduce the burden on our nation’s taxpayers and provide a better life for our nation’s children.

Decreasing the tax burden needed to fund government programs benefits all state residents. When children are receiving public assistance, State and Federal Laws allow the CSSD to collect the child support owed to the children and use these monies to reimburse the State for the public assistance payments. Most important of all, timely child support payments to families who are not receiving public assistance can prevent dependence on welfare programs in the future.

The Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996 (Federal Welfare Reform) requires employers to report the following data elements for each newly hired or rehired employee within 20 days:

- Employer Name
New Hire information submitted by employers will only be used for purposes prescribed by law, including:

- Establish and enforce child support orders
- Detect Unemployment Benefits overpayments and fraud
- Detect Workers’ Compensation overpayments and fraud
- Detect overpayments and fraud in other government programs, such as Welfare and Food Stamps

For more information contact the Child Support Services Division (CSSD) of the South Carolina Department of Social Services.

Step 3 -- Sales Tax

Sales tax is imposed on the sale of goods and certain services in South Carolina. Use tax is imposed on goods and certain services purchased out of state and brought into South Carolina or on which no sales tax has been paid.

The statewide sales and use tax rate is 6%. Counties may impose an additional local sales and use tax if voters in that county approve the tax. Generally, all retail sales of tangible personal property are subject to the state’s sales or use tax.

Sales tax in South Carolina are based on where the goods a certain services are delivered, not where they are sold. You can get sales and use tax information from a manual on this page https://dor.sc.gov/policy/index/policy-manuals.

To secure a Retail Sales Tax License with the Dept. of Revenue, go to https://dor.sc.gov/

Step 4 -- Business Personal Property Tax

Businesses are required to file a Business Personal Property Return with the county or the SCDOR annually for each business location. Business Personal Property Tax is a business tax on the furniture, fixtures, and equipment owned by the business. Examples include computers, copiers, chairs, refrigeration equipment, and shelving. You will receive a Property Tax Return (PT-100) one month after your accounting period closes. In most cases, the county in which the business is located will bill you. This is a tax that is to be reported at acquisition cost with a deduction allowed for depreciation but should never fall below 10%.

In order to submit the tax, a Business Personal Property Tax account needs to be established. The jurisdiction where to file is identified by line of business (NAICS code). In general, a business that requires a Retail Sales Tax license will automatically receive a business personal property tax file number from the Dept. of Revenue. A service business normally registers with the county.

You can get detailed property tax information from a manual on this page (https://dor.sc.gov/policy/index/policy-manuals).

Step 5 – Local business license

There is no single all-encompassing State business license; however, nearly all municipalities in the state require a business license. Eight counties in SC require business licenses, including those shown below.

- Beaufort County
- Horry County
- Sumter County
- Charleston County
- Jasper County
- Richland County
- Dorchester County
- Marion County

The business will need a local business license in most of the municipalities where business is physically located and conducted. For example, if a business is physically located in the City of Columbia and does business in the Town of Irmo, business licenses are required from both Columbia and Irmo. Home-based and online businesses are required to have business licenses.

If the business is physically located in or conducts business in the unincorporated (non-city limit) area of a county, the business will need a county business license if that county is one of the counties listed above. For example, if the business has a food truck or is a contractor based in the unincorporated area of Richland County (which requires a business license) and conducts business in the City of Columbia, the business would need a Richland County business license and a City of Columbia business license.

Notes:

- If a foreign business (a business that was initially registered outside South Carolina) does not have physical presence or “substantial nexus”, the business may not need local business licenses.

- Most businesses need a business license, including home-based businesses. However, some businesses are exempt from paying the fee.

- A business license is valid only in the jurisdiction in which it was obtained.

- Business licenses are valid for the current calendar year only. Business licenses expire every December 31st.

- Every physical location requires its own business license.

- Business licenses are valid for the current owner only—no transfers.
- Business license fees are based upon gross revenue, type of business (indicated by the NAICS code, the federal North American Industrial Classification System), and location (in or out of the county).

- All gross revenue of a business should be reported to a jurisdiction only once. Deductions will apply if a business obtains more than one business license.

Securing Your First Business License (not to be confused with registering the business with the Secretary of State)

Sub-Step 1: Know where your business is located. Contact the Municipality and/or County where the business is located. The property tax bill or county records may be helpful. A list of the counties’ contact information is included in Appendix 1.

Sub-Step 2: Pick up and complete the necessary forms: Obtain a Business License Application Form and a Clearance Form. Some municipalities and counties are online.

Sub-Step 3: Obtain the necessary approvals. Take the Clearance Form to the Zoning Division. They will route your form to the next department. Home-based businesses will not need a Fire Marshal inspection.

Businesses in commercial locations will need a Fire Marshal’s inspection. The Fire Marshal will contact you to schedule an inspection.

Other possible approvals/requirements: Obtain other approvals or meet the other requirements as indicated on the Clearance Form.

Sub-Step 4: Return all applicable forms, including the New Business License Application Form and the Clearance Form (if applicable) to the municipality/county office after all applicable approvals have been received and all applicable requirements have been met.

Sub-Step 5: Pay for your business license. The county office will calculate your business license fee, based upon projected or last year’s gross revenues and your type of business. We will also determine whether any deductions may apply.

Denotes the counties that require business licenses, some counties may require certain business types (ex. a home based business) to register for a license. Since laws and/or ordinances do periodically change, it is up to the individual to do their due diligence and contact the county where the business is operating to determine if the business needs a business license.
